Introduction

This is evidence of a world-empire. The Rus-Horde 'Tartarian' Empire ruled over all continents between 12th and 18th centuries before its breakup in 1775.

Questioning the 'official' timeline of Earth's history is not a new phenomenon.
Since the 16th century historian critics like Jean Hardouin,
Robert Baldauf,
Edwin Johnson,
Wilhelm Kammeyer, Heribert Illig, and Immanuel Velikovsky have accused church chronologists of the Holy Roman Empire such as Joseph Scaliger (founder of modern chronology) of conspiring to obfuscate historical records before the 13th century C.E. In modern times, state-sponsored historians
like Anatoly Fomenko have used statistical analysis of published records from 2200
sources including Scaliger,
House of Romanov,
The Bible
& OT Apocrypha,
Quran,
Book of Mormon,

Maya-Kiche,
etc.

His team revealed duplicated matching chronology spanning periods of hundreds or thousands of years, often with the names and locations changed. In his New Chronology, modern human history started less than a thousand years ago:

> Christ was born in The Crimea on > December 25th, 1152 A.D. and was crucified on Joshua's Hill in Constantinople/Istanbul*.*
> The Trojan War and the Crusades were waged in revenge of the Crucifixion and were > in reality the same historical event.
> Genghis Khan and the Mongols were actually Russians.
> The lands west of the 13 colonies that now constitute the American West and Middle West > were a far eastern part of Siberian-American (Rus-Horde) > Empire prior to its disintegration in 1775.

Earth may have been a satellite of planet Saturn in primordial times

In 1952, Immanuel Velikovsky posited that 'ancient' history was also in need of a major revision. He used comparative mythology and ancient literary sources (especially the Old Testament) to argue that Earth suffered catastrophic close contacts with other planets (Saturn, Jupiter, Mercury, and especially Venus and Mars) in our past. In 1997, Wal Thornhill presented the Electric Universe
theory which provided a new foundation in interplanetary physics that neatly explained why these cataclysms

occurred in the past. In Saturnian Cosmology, Earth’s recorded history is less than 4 thousand years since the start of the Golden Age.

seven-volume series Khristos (1924–1932), which detailed his revised, condensed timeline of history. While considered pseudohistory by mainstream academics, it is foundational to the Russian New Chronology movement. References:
 - Wikipedia — Nikolai Morozov <hr /> <h2>Khristos (Христос, 1924–1932)</h2> Khristos: istoriya chelovechestva v estestvennonauchnom osveshchenii (“Christ: History of Mankind in the Light of Natural Sciences”) is Morozov’s magnum opus — a seven-volume work produced partly during his imprisonment — a comprehensive attempt to overhaul traditional historical chronology using methods from astronomy, physics, and mathematics. Core thesis (New Chronology): Morozov argued that the accepted chronology of ancient and medieval history was significantly flawed. He proposed that much of early history was fabricated, with many ancient events actually occurring much later in the Middle Ages. Astronomical methodology: A core component is using the dates of astronomical events — eclipses, planetary conjunctions — mentioned in ancient texts to determine the real time of the events. He analyzed ancient religious texts, including the Book of Revelation, through a scientific, astronomical lens. Reinterpretation of religion: Morozov argued that many biblical events and figures, including Jesus Christ, were not historical in the traditional sense, but rather allegorical figures representing astronomical phenomena or earlier events. Structure: The seven-volume set covers various aspects of human history, with a focus on re-evaluating the timeline of Mediterranean and European civilizations. Influence: While considered pseudoscientific by mainstream academia, Khristos is significant as a direct precursor to the modern New Chronology developed by Anatoly Fomenko. References:

ι666</h1> The opportunity for another Apocalypse came with the approaching date of <code>ι</code>666 written as <code>in the 666th year of the Lord</code>. The Deep State’s motivations were the same as in 1492 C.E.-to strike the fear of God into the Protestants and consolidate the local governments under the centralized authority of the Church.
 Having conquered all remaining world religions, the Deep State was in a position to misrepresent ancient chronologies of their conquered vassals, specifically-the violent memory of the ending of the Golden Age. Going forward, the Apocalypse date would be represented not as a history of the Earth’s formation, but as a prophecy</ em> of how the world will end in the future - with a sudden intervention by the creator god Jehovah. <blockquote> During the first half of the seventeenth century some extravagant notions of the near approach of the Messianic time, and more especially of the redemption of the Jews and their return to Jerusalem, were set forth by Christian writers and entertained by Jews and Christians alike. The so - called apocalyptic year was assigned by Christian authors to the year 1666.
